

EXECUTIVE ORDER 92-19

GOVERNOR'S TASK FORCE ON PREVENTION OF
CHILDHOOD LEAD POISONING

(Supersedes Executive Order 92-4)

WHEREAS, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has declared that lead poisoning is one of the most common and preventable pediatric health problems in the United States today and has revised downward the 1985 blood lead intervention level of 25 ug/dl to 10 ug/dl; and

WHEREAS, the symptoms of lead poisoning are silent and largely invisible at first, but without appropriate interventions can result in decreased intelligence, developmental disabilities, behavioral disturbances and disorders of blood production; and

WHEREAS, studies by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and the Arizona Department of Health Services have shown that blood lead levels in children under six years of age who reside in smelter communities are significantly elevated over those in non-smelter communities; and

WHEREAS, no current information exists concerning blood lead levels in Arizona children who reside in major population areas; and

WHEREAS, Arizona residents have indicated a high degree of concern about the problem in general and specifically about services for blood lead testing, paint testing, soil testing, environmental evaluation and remediation of lead-based paint and lead-contaminated soil; and

WHEREAS, expanding the focus of prevention from merely identifying and treating individual children to preventing exposure to lead before children become poisoned will require a shared responsibility among many public and private agencies;

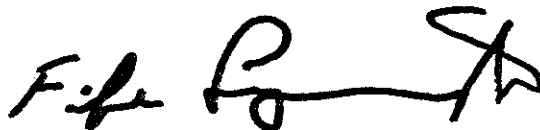

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of the State of Arizona by the Constitution and laws of this State, I, Fife Symington, hereby create the Governor's Task Force on Prevention of Childhood Lead Poisoning and order and direct:

- * Solicit comments, opinions and suggestions from interested and involved public officials, public agencies, private groups, affected populations, and the general public.
  - * Develop methods to encourage increased communication and and cooperation among all public and private agencies concerned about the issue.
